

UNIVERSITY OF LIVERPOOL

DIPLOMATIC MARRIAGE IN NEW KINGDOM EGYPT: THE FOREIGN WIVES OF THE PHARAOHS AND THE DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENCE AROUND THEM

Dissertation submitted for the Masters Degree in MA in Egyptology

By

Grigorios I. Kontopoulos

"I certify that (i) any material in this dissertation which is not my own work is properly identified and acknowledged, (ii) the dissertation complies fully with the University of Liverpool regulations on plagiarism and collusion, (iii) no part of the dissertation has ever figured in material successfully submitted for the award of any other degree"

Liverpool 2012

For

Panagiotis Kousoulis

CONTENTS

List of abbreviations	5
Introduction	6
1. Egypt and its neighbors: Egyptian interconnections with the Near East during the New Kingdom	8
1.1 Egypt	8
1.2 Mitanni	12
1.3 Babylonia	14
2. Foreigners in Egypt	16
2.1 Egyptian ideology towards foreigners	17
3. Foreign Royal Wives in New Kingdom Egypt
3.1 The Institution of queenship in ancient Egypt	23
3.2 The foreign Wives of Thutmose III	27
3.3 The foreign Wives of Amenhotep III	31
3.4 The foreign Wives of Ramesses II	34
4. Diplomatic Marriage in the Amarna Letters
4.1 The Historical Background of the Amarna Letters	44
4.2 The Amarna Correspondence	45
4.3 The Amarna Letters archive	45

4.4 Diplomatic Marriage in the Amarna Letters	47
4.5 The Case of Ankhesenamun	57
5. Conclusions	65
6. Bibliography	68